

Representative's Report

November 4, 2008
Update #4

Critical Injuries and Deaths: RCY Reviews and Investigations

Purpose

The purpose of the Representative for Children and Youth's reviews and investigations of child deaths or critical injuries is to identify and thoughtfully analyze recurring issues - particularly in service delivery. The intent is to help prevent similar deaths or injuries in the future, and to inform improvements to services.

Independently reviewing these deaths and critical injuries is an important element of quality assurance. These reviews and investigations are done in a timely, fair, respectful and thorough manner.

Reporting Period: June 1 – September 30, 2008 *

During this reporting period, 50 critical injuries and 27 deaths of BC children and youth who were in care or receiving reviewable services within the previous year were reported to the office of the Representative for Children and Youth (RCY).

These have all undergone an initial screening by the Representative and her staff to determine whether an RCY Review (defined on page 5) is necessary. The results of this initial screening are on the following pages.

 This information is based on reports received by the RCY office at the time of this update. These numbers may change if additional reports of critical injuries or deaths which occurred in this reporting period are subsequently received by the RCY.*

DEFINITIONS

RCY Initial Screening:

The RCY receives reports of critical injuries or deaths of children who were in care or receiving reviewable services at the time of the incident, or in the year previous. These reports receive an 'initial screening' to determine if they meet the criteria, under the Representative for Children and Youth Act, for an RCY Review (defined below).

RCY Review:

Critical injuries and deaths that do meet the criteria under the Representative for Children and Youth Act proceed to an RCY Review, which examines the circumstances and the services delivered to the child.

This may include examining medical records, Ministry of Children and Family Development (MCFD) case files, relevant policies and standards. As well, consultation with the Coroners Service and discussions with service providers, caregivers and parents may occur.

The purpose of an RCY Review is to determine if there are service delivery issues or other circumstances that would require an RCY Investigation (defined below). Reviews are also aggregated to identify and analyze recurring circumstances or trends, to improve the effectiveness and responsiveness of reviewable services.

RCY Investigation:

The Representative initiates an RCY Investigation when the circumstances of the injury or death are suspicious, self-inflicted, or when there is a question as to whether neglect, abuse or services the child received may have played a role in events leading to the injury or death.

By law, an RCY Investigation must not inhibit the work of others. An RCY Investigation does not proceed until police investigations and criminal court proceedings are completed. If there are no criminal proceedings, the RCY Investigation proceeds when other processes, such as ministry reviews or coroner's inquests, are completed, or one year after the incident, whichever is earlier.

RCY Investigation reports are presented to the Select Standing Committee on Children and Youth, and publicly released.

Reviewable Services:

Reviewable services are services or programs under the Child, Family and Community Service Act and the Youth Justice Act; mental health services for children; addiction services for children; services to children with special needs delivered by MCFD and Community Living B.C.; and additional "designated services" that may be designated under a Regulation.

Multi-Disciplinary Team:

The RCY's Multi-Disciplinary Team brings together experts in the field to assist in analyzing information gained in reviews and investigations.

Experts in public health, medicine, pathology, Aboriginal issues, policing, education, child welfare and service delivery, services to children and youth with special needs, MCFD and the Coroners Service meet to review evidence from individual cases and from groups of similar cases. The Multi-Disciplinary Team provides advice to the Representative on strategies to help prevent similar deaths or injuries in the future and to inform improvements to services.
